AGE

Before being admitted to the third year of the Joint Course, students must be at least twenty years of age. The Diploma, G.R.S.M. (London), will not be issued to any one under the age of twenty-one years.

THE COURSE

The First Two Years.

The Course, beginning in the September Term, will occupy at least three consecutive years.

For the first two years or more the student will pursue the ordinary full-course curriculum of the Royal Academy of Music or the Royal College of Music (see Prospectus of each Institution).

Students at the end of each of the first two years must show sufficient merit in the annual examinations of their respective Institutions to satisfy the Principal and/or the Director of their ability to go on to the following year of the Course.

Note.—In accordance with the rules laid down by the Board of Education, students are not permitted to undertake any regular part-time work during their three years' Course as this is incompatible with a "Full-time" Training Course.

The Third Year.

The third year of the Joint Course will be devoted to training for Music Teaching. The special curriculum of this year embraces a Course of Lectures, Demonstration Lessons, Discussion Classes and Practical Teaching, and one lesson of 40 minutes weekly in a Principal Study.

Students who possess the necessary qualifications, and who have completed three or more years as full-time students of the Royal Academy of Music or the Royal College of Music may, during their fourth year at either Institution, enter on the special course of training in teaching without taking a principal study, provided they have the permission of the Principal and the Director, granted after special examination.

Past students who have completed two years' study at the R.A.M. or R.C.M. and who wish to take the Third Year of the Course after a break in studentship may do so only by special permission of the Principal and the Director.

In the First Term of the Third Year there will be Lectures on History and Appreciation of Music, Aural Training and on the application and development of Technique and Repertoire in Pianoforte, Strings and Class Singing and on School Music. There will also be classes in Keyboard Harmony.

Every student of the Course at either Institution will be responsible for the instrumental teaching of individual pupils during the whole of the Third Year. Every student will also be responsible for the teaching of Aural Training and Singing Classes during the year. All students will be supervised in this work. Arrangements are also made for the students to have practice-teaching and observing in L.C.C. Elementary and Secondary Schools during the year.

In the Second Term of the Third Year there will be Ten Lectures on Psychology, ten on Musical History, and ten on School Music.

There will also be classes in experimental teaching, conducted by professors.

In the Third Term there will be Ten Lectures on School Music and Experimental Teaching Classes in Singing. Weekly Discussion Classes will be held this Term, and will include occasional short papers written by the students of the Course, the subjects of discussion being the wider aspects of music teaching and of education in general.

Students must attend all these Lectures and Classes.

EXAMINATION

At the end of the Third Year, in July, an examination will be held for the Special Diploma, "GRADUATE OF THE ROYAL SCHOOLS OF MUSIC (LONDON)," and candidates who satisfy the examiners will have the exclusive right to append the letters "G.R.S.M. (London)," to their names.

This examination, on the work of the Third Year, will be partly per scripta and partly vivâ voce; it will be under the supervision of the Principal and the Director with expert assistance by Professors of the R.A.M. and the R.C.M. Students must satisfy the Board of Examiners in all parts of the Examination, namely (1) Paper Work; (2) Instrumental Teaching; (3) Class Teaching.

Only those students who have attended 75% of the Lectures, Classes and Practical Teaching in each subject will be permitted to enter for this examination.

The examination takes place at the end of the Midsummer Term in each year, and is held alternately at the R.A.M. and R.C.M.

Candidates failing in any part of the examination may enter for those parts in any of the three succeeding years.

PART I.: PAPER-WORK

There will be four papers of two hours each containing questions on Psychology, on the teaching of History and Appreciation of Music, Paper Work, Instrumental technique and repertoire, on Class Singing and Ear-training. There will also be questions testing the candidates' own general musical knowledge.

PART II.: VIVÁ VOCE

Candidates will be required to give two demonstration lessons: (1) to an individual pupil whom they have taught during the year, and (2) to a class of children on any of the subjects dealt with in their Course; and they will have to answer questions arising out of these lessons on technique, interpretation, repertoire, etc. There will be set songs for the class singing. Candidates will be expected to show some ability in the teaching of allied subjects other than their own principal subject, and will be tested in their sight-reading and improvising.

Before the Certificate for the Diploma, "G.R.S.M. (London)," is issued, candidates must have passed the L.R.A.M. the A.R.C.M. or the L.R.S.M. in their Principal Subject. Note.—Students cannot, in any school post, claim the Graduate Burnham Scale until they have received the Certificate for the Diploma G.R.S.M. (London).

No re-examination will take place until July in the following year, and candidates who have failed will not be re-examined unless they spend the intervening year either in a school post or in some further approved training for teaching. Candidates will be notified whether they are required to take one or more parts of the examination again.

FEES FOR THE COURSE

During the Third Year the Fees for the Course are £14 14s. per term, which comprise a Principal Study and the Training Course. Note.—[As from September, 1940, the fees will be £16 16s.]. Students who wish to take an extra Second Study must obtain the permission of the Principal or Director to do so, and must pay the requisite additional fee. The Fee for the Special Examination at the end of the Course for the Diploma, "G.R.S.M. (London)," is £5 5s.
